THE COLONY, Texas — The eighth annual Health and Info Fair this week at The Colony Community Center will feature over 30 vendors with a wide variety of services and products for residents ages 50 and up.

Doors will open at 9 a.m. and the fair will run until noon on Friday, May 8, at the center, 5151 North Colony Boulevard. Vendors will be giving away informational handouts, promotional items, door prizes and offering free screenings.

Services represented will include: independent living, assisted living, rehabilitation centers, health clinics, insurance, Area Agency on Aging, hospitals, personal care, home health care, hospice, Denton County Health Department and several other agencies.

“The Health & Info Fair is a community-wide event geared specifically for those age 50-plus, their friends, relatives and caregivers,” said Diana Holland, senior/community center coordinator for The Colony Parks & Recreation Department. “There will be a wealth of information available in one central location, making it easy for you to find answers to your questions. You won’t want to miss out on this opportunity.”

The Health Fair is open to the public. You do not have to be a member of the Community Center to attend. Any area resident interested in information for seniors age 50 and up is encouraged to attend.

Admission is free. For more information, call the Community Center at 972-624-2246.
