Disclaimer:

The Colony Police Department– Mental Health Team has compiled this packet in the attempt to list community resources that can potentially provide a variety of assistance to citizens in need throughout our community. Many resources were on other recommended community lists, some were recommendations from members in the community from personal experiences. Many have been used and have had positive results with, or, at least the resource attempted to provide assistance. Other than the police services listed, The Colony Police Department does not own, operate, or control in any way, any of these contacts, resources, or businesses, and lists them only in good faith, as is, and can make no guarantees, nor take on any liabilities, from any services provided, outcomes, or vouch for the people listed in this packet. It was provided as a potential convenience, and to be used at your own discretion.

26. Veterans Treatment Court Program

Veterans Courts are programs specifically designed for those service members with a service related injury. Or, with a disorder that results in being charged with a crime. Many are also struggling with substance use and/or drug use. The focus is placed on counseling and treatment of underlying conditions rather than on punishment. The ultimate goal of the court is to provide a pathway within the criminal justice system to get our combat veterans' new lives back on track.
